The market for new housing in Perris continues to be very active. In fact, one of the nation's premier homebuilders, KB Home, just purchased another 309 single family residential lots in Perris. Models are expected to open in Winter of 2010.

According to Steve Ruffner, president of KB Home's Southern California division "There continues to be a strong demand for new housing in Perris and with this latest purchase we will be able to offer buyers a variety of new housing options."

The City of Perris is committed to helping people realize the dream of home ownership and offers workshops and assistance programs designed to streamline the buying process.

KB Home is just one of several homebuilders investing in the Perris Valley to provide new housing for the region's growing population.

New rooftops create demand for new retail and services which is one more reason your store belongs in Perris.
